Clinical Psychology in School Settings

Psychologist's theories, tools and interventions in an international school setting

Dr. Amy Meigh

Inclusion Co-ordinator at the International School of Bergamo

November 8th, 2019

9.00 am - 1.00 pm

Classroom 9, Bernareggi - Via Pignolo 76

The workshop aims to highlight the possible interventions of a psychologist in independent school settings. In particular, the purpose is to present the tools and methodologies needed to the professional worker to operate in an international school with a clinical attitude. Experiences will be presented so that participants can reflect on the professional positions and the theoretical options a psychologist can choose in responding to the school's, families' and children's need and requests.

Attendance will be certificated as part of the traineeship activities.
