

Graduated from the Faculty of Law of the Pisa University, cum laude, discussing a thesis in Public Law of the economy entitled Il silenzio-assenso nell'amministrazione dell'economia.

She obtained with honours the PhD at the Scuola Superiore di Studi Universitari e di Perfezionamento S. Anna, in Pisa.

She is Full Professor of Economic Law (IUS05) at the Department of Law of the Bergamo University.

She is Dean of the Department of Law of the Bergamo University.

She is a member of the Academic Senate of the Bergamo University.

She has been coordinator -at the Department of Law at the Bergamo University- of the Commission for the Quality of Departmental Research Self-Evaluation for the academic triennium 2015/2018.

She is Deputy Director of the Center on Economic, Social and Cooperation Dynamics (CESC) of the Bergamo University.

She is a member of the University Commission for Open Access to Scientific Literature.

She is Board member of the Association Internationale de Droit Économique.

She holds the course of Economic Law and the course of Law of Non-Governmental Organizations in the Cours in Human Rights, Migration and International Cooperation.

She is a scientific committee member of the Quarterly Review of Economic Law

She is a board of teachers member of the PhD course in Personal training and labour market.

She has participated in the following PRIN: 1 The objectives of regional competitiveness and territorial governance of European policies of cohesion and sustainable development; 2 Finding, management and accountability of resources for public universities in the perspective of the transformation of their legal nature; 3 Equality in fundamental rights in the crisis of the State and public finances: a proposal for a new model of social cohesion with specific regard to the liberalization and regulation of transport. 4) Prudential supervision and oversight of payment systems.

In 2019 she participated in drafting a proposal for a regional law of popular initiative on Promotion and development of the Solidarity and Social Economy, which was presented in the Lombardy Region and is currently under evaluation of the IV Commission of the Region.

On this topic, she has participated as a representative of the CESC of Unibg in the regional call of Fondazione Istituti Educativi - won - on transformative economies and follows the establishment of the Distretto dell'Economia Sociale e Solidale of the province of Bergamo.

The research interests are those typical of the topics of economic law (regulation of markets, the financial ones particular, independent authorities, relations between the market-State and the third sector), but since 2017 she has intensified attention to the third sector, the forms of financing to the third sector

Bergamo 21 gennaio 2021

(and sustainable finance) and third sector entities (notably social enterprises).